INTRODUCTION.

THE collector of coins, whatever his specialty may be, cannot fail to find something in this Catalogue to his taste. The genuine numismatist is interested in every medal or piece of money, of whatever nation or age it may be, remarkable for rarity, extraordinary merit as a work of art, uncommon preservation, or historical importance.

The great variety in the Taylor cabinet, while it made it interesting as a collection, may be considered a fortunate characteristic—now that it is to be sold.

Had the writer in view only the interests of those who sell these coins, he might endeavor to stimulate competition for particular lots by naming them here, and pointing out the most valuable ; but the study of coins has in this community now advanced somewhat beyond the rudiments of numismatic science, and this catalogue will fall into hands, to say the least, as well qualified as himself to make comparisons and draw conclusions ; and having given, so far as he was capable, a plain and truthful account of what was confided to his care, he will consider his task completed, after having made a few observations as general as the nature of the subject will permit.

There will always be some difference of opinion concerning the proper description of a coin. In other communities the points discussed have been, and it is to be hoped will continue to be, nearly related to the origin, meaning, and importance of the coin itself ; among ourselves, criticism has occupied itself with the extent of the significance of the word fine, and more particularly with the vast difference between the meaning of that term when standing alone (like a shield of arms without supporters), or when preceded by the adverb very.

Whether the writer is or is not so loyal to the decrees of those who preside in the temples which men in these degenerate days have dedicated to the goddess MONETA as to be of the opinion of Tacitus, "That it is more pious and respectful to believe than to inquire into the works of the gods," he is, at least, too sensible of what is due to popular prejudice to call a coin fine simply because it has high antiquity, admirable art, and important meaning to recommend it, unless it has also that other quality which we expect in the proof-sets of the current year of grace—a brilliant surface, unsoiled by the contact of human hands, or the baser contact of other metals.

Should any one think these remarks inspired by personal or professional promptings, the answer is made—Most decidedly they are not.

There is but one man to whom a personal disclaimer is due, and to that man the coin cabinets of America owe more than to any other. He set up his standard on the mountain-tops—perfection was his touchstone. When that was impossible, the best attainable was the rule and limitation. Those who come after him will or they will sink out of sight.

To return from what has narrowly escaped being a digression: The ancient coins with which the Catalogue begins are, with a single exception, more considerable in numbers and quality than have appeared in any sale in New York during the last ten years. Among the medals are some that are rare, as well as many that are fine, and the Papal series is unusually full, and contains several of much interest.

In Part II. will be found some of the most valuable coins that are known to our national history, both before and after the establishment of the Mint.

No. 548 is a medal concerning which the writer hopes to receive some information before the sale takes place, and invites any one to kindly communicate their views on this or any other subject connected with the Catalogue.

W. H. STROBRIDGE.

- 23* 333 COINS of Gothic Emperors from John Zimiscees; several fine and uncommon; Eg. that of Johannes with the bust of Christ, full face, and nimbused; ✚ EMMAN-OVIIL; rev. cross on 3 steps; IS-XS-BAS-ILE-

BASILE, etc., etc. 27 p

334 Two copper coins; one Bactrian the other Persian; well preserved and interesting. Size 16

335 BEAUTIFUL silver coin of Sapor II.; highly ornamented bust to r.; Sassanidan legend; rev. fire altar, on which is a human head; on each side a Magian standing; Sassanidan legend (Mionet V. 695, 19; Wellen-heim 7,102). Much the finest that I have seen. (Rare
5). Size 17

336 ARSACES XV.; head in helmet, with "lobster back;" rev.
archer. Fine drachm; rare.

337 Two extremely fine and rare Sesterti of Heraclius; head;
rev. cross. Size 6

A FEW JEWISH COPPER COINS.

338 SIMON; pot of manna; Samaritan ins. Size 11

339 HEROD Agrippa; obv. tabernacle; rev. three ears of barley. Rare. (Well. 6,996).

340 JOHN HYRCANUS; Samaritan ins. within a wreath of laurel;
rev. cornucopia. In fine preservation, but misstruck.
(Mionet, rare 4).

341 ALEXANDER; star or flower with 6 points or leaves, and two others, unknown; one with palm tree extremely small; perhaps a coin of the somewhat uncertain denomination known as the "Widow's mite." 3 p

ANTIQUÉ CHRISTIAN MEDALS.

342 HEAD of Christ; Hebrew ins.; rev. Hebrew ins. in 5 lines; a patinated copper medal with serrated edge.

343 — Similar medal. Size 22

344 BEARDED head, horns projecting in front; rev. Hebrew ins. Copper. Size 17

345 HEAD, with a ram's horn; Hebrew ins. on collar and rev.
Same size. Size 22

[Medals similar to the above are in the Ashmole library at Oxford, England, and have occasioned prolonged and curious conjectures.

It is argued that, as the head of Christ on the first two are without the nimbus which is found on all such heads after the 7th century, they were made previous to that date. One exactly like 343 was found in 1812 in Cork, on the site of an ancient monastery, contemporaneous with the introduction of Christianity into Ireland.]

345* HEAD of Christ, nimbused, I—N; rev. Hebrew ins. in 5 lines. A very fine old Medal. Size 64

AMERICAN MEDALS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

- Scott 50* 528 VERNON SERIES; THE HON. EDWARD VERNON, ESQ. (this in ex.) HATH ONCE MORE REVIV'D THE BRITISH GLORY; the Admiral shown at three-quarter length, full face, right hand on hip, holding baton in left; behind him to r., a ship and FORT CHAGRE; to l., tree; rev. BY THE TAKING OF PORTO BELLO WITH SIX SHIPS ONLY, Nov. the 22d, 1739; a town and harbor in the form of a semi-circle; two large forts guarding the entrance, one in harbor; six ships lying in a double row before it. Very fine; rare variety; brass. Size 24
- Tarnon 50* 529 — Same; the Admiral at full length, sword in hand; to r., ship; to l., fort; under the fort, HAVANA; the legend is ED. VERNON, ESQ., VICE-ADMIRAL OF THE BLUE; the reverse tells the same story as before in a different way. Extremely fine; brass. Size 23
- de 45* 530 — Same; one side of this is the British coat-of-arms, the other is quite similar to the rev. of 528. Very fine, also rare. Size 24
- de 55* 531 — Same; obv. much like 529, without the fort and ship, however, and with the addition of an anchor; the legend is, THE BRITISH GLORY, etc.; rev. AD. VERNON AND GEN'L OGLE TOOK CARTHAGENA BY SEA AND LAND; and, in ex., Ap'l 1, 1741; view of the town and harbor, with nine ships. Same size and equally fine.

532 VERNON SERIES; THE SPANISH PRIDE PULLED DOWN, etc.; Don Blass kneeling before Admiral Vernon; two varieties, the Don on one knee and on both knees, with marked differences in the reverses. Both fine; size 24. 2 p

533 — Same; ADMIRAL VERNON AND COMMODORE BROWN; the two officers at three-quarters length face to face; no ins., but a handsome ornament in the exergue; rev. the taking of Porto Bello—with another, not described. Equally fine; same size. 2 p

534 — Same; ADM'L VERNON AND SR. CHALONER OGLE (and, in ex.,) WE LOOK FOR DON BLASS; rev. Carthage, etc.; with another, which I think very rare. Same size. 2 p

535 — Same; very pretty medals. Size 17. 2 p
[A full description would have shown that some of these medals differ from any described from Mr. Appleton.]

536 GULIELMUS PITT; bust in wig; rev. "The man who having saved the parent," etc. In red copper; an original impression; very fine and rare in this metal. Size 26

537 — Duplicate in brass. Very poor.

538 CAROLINA medal; Pallas standing with spear and palm; arms, armor, and several instruments used in the liberal arts lying to r. and l.; BOTH HANDS FILLED FOR BRITAIN; and in ex., GEORGE REIGNING; rev. a Queen watering a plantation of young palm trees; GROWING ARTS ADORN EMPIRE; and in ex., CAROLINE PROTECTING, 1736. Ex. fine; silver. Size 25

539 — Duplicate. Equally fine.

540 JOHAN DERK; a figure sitting on a monument, holding a cross and crown in one hand, and in the other a radiated baton; beside the monument a peasant leaning on a spade; a flat-country prospect; SVVM CUIQUE; rev. ins. in Latin; nine lines ending, ZWOLLA, 1 NOV., MDCCLXXXII.; by I. G. Holtzhey. Silver. Size 21

[I suppose this to be one of Holtzhey's series of Dutch-American medals relating to the close of our revolutionary war; it is the first of the kind that has come in my way.]

- Rindall 100* 541 FRANKLIN medals, 1706 and 1784; bust; rev. an angel standing above cloud, lightning descending. Fine proof; bronze. Size 29

PAPAL MEDALS AND COINS.

[It would be tedious to measure and repeat the size of each of this long series of medals. I shall therefore say here that they are of the average breadth of the old crowns, though much thicker, especially in the centre. The oldest are cast, many of the later are from dies by such artists as Girometti and Hamerani. They are all strictly fine, which may also as well be stated here, and omitted in the descriptions, and bronze unless some more valuable metal is mentioned.]

 1029 LOUISIANA cent, 1767; two sceptres crossed; R. F. counterstamped on rev. Very fine.
 1030 SAME; without counterstamp.

1773 and 1776.

- 1031 VIRGINIA cent, 1773; usual type; large planchet. Very fine.
 1032 CONTINENTAL currency, 1776; I. W. counterstamped on one side; tin. Original.

1783.

- 1033 GEORGIUS TRIUMPHE cent. Very good.
 1034 NOVA CONSTELLATIO; U. S., in capitals and script. Very good. 2 p 1035 UNITY States cent, 1783; "Washington and Independence." Very fine.
 1036 WASHINGTON and Independence; rev. United States; one with two heads; two varieties of the former. 3 p 1037 SAME; bright proof impressions; edge milled; restruck from original dies.

1785 to 1788.

- 75 1045 VERMONT cent; laureated head to r.; 1787 and 1788; as good as usually found, and scarce. 2 p
- 138 1046 SAME; landscape at sunrise over a plough, 1786; fine for type. Rare.
- 125 1047 FRANKLIN, cents, 1787; uncirculated; one an original impression. 2 p
- 26 1048 IMMUNE COLUMBIA, 1785; Columbia sitting on a square seat, which two years later the sanguine artist changed to a globe (not always "Fortune's wheel" even to the Goddess of Liberty); rev. NOVA CONSTELLATIO; very fine, nearly uncirculated, and extremely rare.

[There is a dash of poetry about the early National coins, and this is one of the finest of them; compare any of them with our present coins; to be sure we have adopted Cromwell's motto, "Trust in God (and keep your powder dry)," but has the nation to-day a genius equal to Thomas Simon?]

- 100 1049 IMMUNIS COLUMBIA; Columbia seated on a globe, 1787; rev. eagle displayed, E PLURIBUS UNUM; extremely fine impression, showing no marks of circulation, except on points of the highest relief; in this condition, rare.
- 5-00 1050 EXCELSIOR cent, 1787; obv. Arms of New York; rev. similar to last; as fine as last, and the same degree of rarity.

- 75 1052 NOVA EBORAC, 1787; rev. Liberty seated to r. Fair.
- 87 1053 CONFEDERATIO; rev. "Americana Inimica Tyrannis," 1785; fine. From Mr. Bolen's dies.

1791.

- 25 1054 WASHINGTON cent; bust; rev. large eagle; very fine, but little circulated. Rare.

1792.

- 100 1055 WASHINGTON cent; undraped bust to r. head laureated; below, 1792; rev. eagle displayed, six stars around his head; above CENT; edge lettered; circulated and abused before its value was known; still a fair cent, and one with which any collector would be satisfied unless his ambition led him to aspire to one of the 5 proofs of this rarest of American copper coins.

Album 8 29.00
1056 SAME; bust to l. in military dress; date below; G. WASHINGTON, PRESIDENT; rev. eagle, around his head 15 stars; UNITED STATES OF AMERICA; edge plain; half-dollar size; impressions for silver from same dies are called half dollars; very fine; among the best ever offered, although not strictly uncirculated. Very rare.

- 300 1072 DOLLAR; fine for this rare date. do
- 1000 1073 — Same; the best impression from the dollar dies of this date, and on the best planchet that I have seen — a remark that I have often heard from others since the piece has been in my hands; there has been a name engraved on the obv. and burnished out, the effect being observable though not greatly hurtful; it is a beautiful dollar, and equalled by few. Rare. REB 1795.

- 225 1074 CENT; lettered edge, thick planchet; dark, but fine. Scarce. Hay
- 300 1075 — Same; plain edge; uncirculated, or very nearly so; impression and color all that can be desired. Rare. Hall Jr
- 400 1076 — Same; very rare variety, very broad milling. Fair. Albion
- 1000 1077 — Same; Jefferson head; the second best that has been offered at auction. Desirable and rare. Albion

 1092 — Same. Ordinary.
 1093 HALF-DOLLAR; very fine for date. Very rare.
 1094 DOLLAR; unusually fine for date. Scarce.

1797.

- 1095 CENT; very sharp impression, dark.
 1096 — Same; one of the uncirculated red cents of this date, so well known, but not one of the finest of the kind, still very desirable. Now rare.
 1097 HALF-CENT; very good. Scarce.
 1098 HALF-DIME; good for date.
 1099 DIME; fine for date. Rare.
 1100 — Same; another. Fair.

 750 1105 DIME; 13 stars on obv. and 16 on rev. Very fine for date and variety, rare. do 450 1106 DOLLAR; old or small eagle reverse, and one of the best that I have seen. Fine and rare. do 125 1107 — Same; large eagle reverse; new die. Very fine. Hann
 125 1108 DUPLICATE; equally fine. do

1799.

- 550 1109 CENT; excellent impression and preservation; found nearly black and kept so; has not been cleaned, and is the better for it; a very desirable cent. Rare. Albion
 100 1110 DOLLAR. Very fine. Woburn
 300 1111 — Same, with five stars before the head and eight be-

[As few collectors of coins will ever have an opportunity to see a set of the patterns out of which the "Trade Dollar" was selected (or rather out of which it grew, because it is different from any one of the six before me), I will mention here their characteristics and then catalogue them separately, reserving the right to sell them in this way or as a set. They all have on the principal side a representation of the Goddess of Liberty in some form, and on the reverse the usual motto and legend, with the addition of "420 grains, 900 fine," with the title—TRADE DOLLAR.]
